

CURA Presents

RACHAEL WOLDOFF

“From Rent Control to Luxury: Seniors, Yuppies, and College Students Sharing an Apartment Community”

Thursday, 2/27
3:30pm - 5:00pm
Derby Hall 1080

Dr. Woldoff is an Associate Professor of Sociology at West Virginia University. She won the 2013 Best Book Award from the Urban Affairs Association. Her research and publications are focused on neighborhood crime and disorder, neighborhood redevelopment, and racial/ethnic differences in residential outcomes. She will speak about her ethnographic project on New York City's Stuyvesant Town which has been called the “largest American real estate deal ever.”

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

CENTER FOR URBAN AND REGIONAL ANALYSIS